Masterman had been knocked down in the afternoon while trying to preserve order. Maguire carried him into the saloon and told him to stay there. Some time afterward he heard shots outside and looked out of the door. He saw the flash of a pistol and immediately closed the door and went out the back door. He saw Masterman

The next witness was Jacob Vandersloot, one of the men who was shot. He acknowledged that he was roaring drunk and did not remember anything except that he was would be completed as far as Corby street this year.

They attacked him and he retaliated by shooting. He shot first at Vander-sloot, but did not know who he shot at after-wards. After the second shot he was knocked down and fired three shots while on his back on the ground.

A SCHEME TO DEFEAT JUSTICE. How Two Young Men Proposed to

Prove Their Innocence. On Saturday night two young men named William F. Faulkner and F. T. Lucey engaged in a fight in which the former had his lip badly cut open while the latter received injuries that will necessitate the hand painting of an eye. They were arrested and taken to the police station and confined in the same cell. While there they concluded that it was best to fix up matters and escape the payment of a fine so they shook hands across the bloody chasm of their recent unpleasantness and swore eternal fealty. Lacey has a couple of sisters who live at Sixteenth and Leavenworth who saw the row and the boys thought that they would make good witnesses. So they wrote the wing letter:

"May and Addie come down at 2 o'clock. My trial is set for that time and I think I will get free. Bring some money down in case I don't. A fellow will pay it back to-night. He is working and can't get off. Tell May if He is working and can't get off. Tell May if she is brought upon the witness stand to say we wasn't finiting. The young fellow that I fought with is all right. He and I are friends. He will swear that I did not hit him and so do you. F. E. LACEY."

But the letter was not delivered for the police intercepted it and although the girls were present they could not testify. Faulk-parked flood $15, and casts and $150. ner was fined $15 and costs and Lacey $8 and costs. As the girls had brought the money with them they paid and were released.

ANDREEN'S NEW SHUTTER,

The National Association of Fire Engineers.

Pronounce and Endorse It as the Best Device Ever Invented, Both For Its Utility and Simplicity.

What the committee of exhibits, consisting of the following named gentlemen: Chief Taylor, Richmond, Va.; Chief Carroll, Nashville, Tenn.; Chief Laschure, Springfield, Mass., Chief Larkins, Dayton, O., and Chief Galli-gan, Omaha, of the National Association of Fire Engineers of the United States, held at Kansas City, September 10-says of the Andreeu patent shutter, manufactured at Omalia, Neb.

Exhibit No. 11: Gustave Andreen, of Omaha, Neb. presents Andreen's patent device for opening and closing fire-proof shutters from the outside with water pressure from the bose, and their easy operation from the ladder, and we consider it a very useful invention to the fire departments; also the mechanism to open and close the shutters from the inside without raising the windows, is of great benefit to the oc-cupants of the building and the insurance companies, as the shutters will be closed; whereas the old style of shutters are left open on account of the hard and dangerous operation of the same. And as the Andreen patent device for operating shutters can be applied to shutters now in use by a little expense, and on shutters already adopted by the national convention, we recommend the use of G. Andreen's patent mechanism for operating fireproof shutters.

Andreen, the inventer, has already secured several large contracts to furnish the above named shutter on buildings in Kansas City. The Pratt fire escape, to make escape from windows by means of belt and cable. was equally as well recommended by the
